

Brady Workstation Data Automation

5 Steps To Automation

Brady Workstation Data Automation allows label printing to seamlessly become a part of your daily processes by automatically importing data onto a pre-defined label template and printing to a designated printer. Learn how to automate your labeling process in just 5 steps through the creation of channels.

Creating Channels For Automation

1 Watch Folder

Which is monitored for incoming data files.

2 Template File

Which is the design of the label and its fields.

3 Map Fields

Which identifies what data maps to each label template field.

4 Printer

Printer, for printing your labels.

5 Start

Initiates printing.

See page 2 for more detail.

STEP 1

Define Your Watch Folder

- Click the 'Watch Folder' icon to define the folder location where the software will watch for an incoming data file.
- Select which type of data file to watch for, such as a .txt or .csv.
- Determine whether the file should be deleted or moved to a different archive folder following processing.

STEP 2

Choose Your Template File

- Click the 'Template File' icon to browse to the location of your predefined Brady Workstation label template.
- Select your label template.

NOTE: A template must be created prior to this step. Create your template first with either LabelMark or Brady Workstation software.

STEP 3

Map Label Fields

- Click the 'Map Fields' icon to connect each field on the label to a field in your data file.
- Define if your file will have column headers.
- Determine which delimiter, such as a comma, you will use to separate data.
- Assign the correct data columns to the corresponding label fields.

STEP 4

Select a Printer

- Click the 'Printer' icon to select the printer you want to use.
- Install the required printer driver from BradyID.com.

STEP 5

Start the Channel

- Click the 'Start' icon to start your channel so that whenever a file is moved to the watch folder, your labels print automatically.
